

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

HENRY'S

FIRST LATIN BOOK

BY THE REV.

THOMAS KERCHEVER ARNOLD, M.A.,

LATE RECTOR OF LYNDON,

AND FORMERLY FELLOW OF TRINITY COLLEGE, CAMBRIDGE.

"He shall be brought past the wearisome bitterness of his learning."—LILY.

TWENTY-FIRST EDITION

RIVINGTONS
London, Oxford, and Cambridge
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL, & CO.
London

1871

305. g 52.

A FEW REMARKS ON THE PRONUNCIATION OF LATIN.

1. The accent or stress is always on the penultimate (the last syllable but one), or the antepenultimate (the last syllable but two).
2. If the penultimate is long, the stress is upon it; if short, it is on the antepenultimate.
3. E final is never e mute; in other words, it always constitutes a syllable with a preceding consonant (or consonants). (Thus ma-re.)
4. C and G are soft (that is, pronounced like s, j) respectively before e (with æ, œ), and i.
5. Qu, gu, are pronounced respectively like kw, gw (antiquus = antikwus; sanguis = sangwis).

P R E F A C E

TO THE SEVENTEENTH EDITION.

THE present edition of this deservedly popular work is the result of a careful revision of what may be called its mechanical parts. The Vocabularies, and the Latin and English Index, have been much extended by the addition of many words necessary for the learner in writing the exercises. A greater uniformity of reference has been secured. A few rules and observations have been omitted or simplified. Head lines indicating the main contents of each page have been prefixed. Every thing has been done which has suggested itself to the Editor, or has been suggested by friends who use the book in their schools, to make it more useful to the beginner.

At the same time, no pains have been spared to do this without altering in any way the character of the work, or making it inconvenient to use it side by side with copies of the last edition.

P R E F A C E

TO THE FIRST EDITION.

THE title of this little work was suggested by Mrs. Marcet's 'Mary's Grammar.' The object of it is to enable the pupil to do exercises from the first day of his beginning the study of his Accidence. With this view, I have at first confined myself to the third person singular of a few tenses, and to one case of a noun: a plan suggested by an able writer in the Quarterly Journal of Education.

The principles of imitation and frequent repetition are acted upon, as in a larger work which I have just published; and the principal difficulties of the language (the accusative with the infinitive; the use of the participle in dus, &c.) are, it is hoped, fully explained, and illustrated by a sufficient number of examples.

T. K. A.

To the third edition I have added additional construing lessons on the principal conjunctions, and on the translation of participles.

HENRY'S

FIRST LATIN BOOK.

Words printed in Italic letters, (thus, mensa;) in an exercise, are phrases that are not to be translated word for word; or about which something has been taught that should be remembered.

Numerals in the line refer to the sections of the book; above the line, and followed by a curve, to the table of questions, pp. 129—132; above the line, but without a curve, to the table of differences, pp. 133, 134. In some few instances the page is referred to, in which case the letter p. is placed before the numeral.

Lesson 1.

Cases in Latin and English.

1. WHERE in English we put a preposition before a noun, the Romans often used no preposition, but changed the end of the word.

2. Thus, 'mens-a' being 'a table;' 'mens-æ' is 'of a table;' 'mens-â,' 'BY a table,' and so on.

3. A word so altered is called a case of that word; thus mensæ is called the genitive case of mensa; and so on.

4. The unaltered word is said to be in the nominative case, though it is not strictly a case.

5. All Latin nouns do not form their cases exactly in the same way.

As there are five principal ways of forming the cases of a noun, nouns are divided into five classes, each class being called a declension.

6. (a) Nouns that end in a in the nominative, and make their genitive in æ, are of the first declension.

(b) Nouns that end in us, er, um, and make their genitives in i, are of the second declension.

(c) Nouns in us, that make their genitive in ûs, and all nouns in u, are of the fourth declension.

(d) Nouns that end in es, and make their genitive in ei, are of the fifth declension.

(e) Nouns with any ending not set down as belonging to the other declensions, and those with an ending belonging to some other declension, but with a genitive in 'is,' belong to the third declension^a.

7. On the ACCUSATIVE case.

The accusative is the case that follows transitive verbs, and many prepositions.

8. A transitive verb is one that gives no complete meaning till some person or thing is mentioned to whom or which the action was done.

He killed—(killed whom?) the blacksmith.

9. The following are the accusative endings of the five declensions for the singular number.

1.	2. 4.	3. 5.
am	um	em.

But  If a noun is neuter, its accusative is the same as the nominative^b.

10. These endings are to be added to the word, when the endings of the nominative, as set down in

^a TABLE OF THE DECLENSIONS.

Nouns that end in	Genitive
a	æ	are of the first	} Declension.
us, er, um	i	. . second
us, u	ûs	. . fourth
es	ei	. . . fifth
Those with any other ending, or with these if their gen. end in ' is '	is	. . . third

^b In English all things are neuter; but in Latin the names of things are some masculine, some feminine, some neuter.

the table (in p. 8, note a), have been thrown away. But to this there are two exceptions:—

- (1) The case-endings (or 'terminations') of nouns of the second declension in er, are added on thus: e is dropt, and the termination then added on to the r. Thus ager, agr-, Acc. agr-um. (Sometimes however the e is kept; as puer, Acc. puer-um.)
- (2) The terminations of the third declension are added on to some form that is generally not found in the nominative. Thus they are added on to lapid, the nominative being lapis, Gen. lapid-is.
- (3) The root, or form to which the terminations of the third declension are to be added, is to be got from the genitive by throwing away 'is.'

Exercise 1.

[OBS. m., f., n. stand for masculine, feminine, and neuter.
G. stands for genitive.]

11. Determine of what declension each of the following words is, and write down its accusative case.

VOCABULARY 1.

Horn,	cornu, neut.	(cornucopia).

^c That is, English words that are derived from the Latin words, and may serve as a key to their meaning.

Lesson 2.

12. The persons of the Latin verb are distinguished by their endings (as think-est and think-s are in English). But in Latin all the persons have different endings; and the pronoun I, thou, &c. is generally left out, because the ending of the verb shows the person meant.

(Verbs whose infinitives end in ārē, as ām-ārē.)

13. By throwing off ārē you get the root.

14. By adding at to the root you get the third person singular of the present tense: by adding abat, the third person singular of the imperfect tense: by adding abit, the third person singular of the future tense.

(a) Am-ārē, to love: root am. | am-ābāt, was loving.
am-āt, loves; is loving; or | am-ābit, will love.
does love.

Where in English we use an auxiliary verb, "will love," "may love," &c., the Romans used endings to the root, as am-abo, I will love.

— feminine ——— a; G. æ. (Decl. i.)

— neuter ——— um; G. i. (Decl. ii.)

Hence the acc. of an adjective is got by 9. For instance, if the adjective be bonus (whose fem. is bona; neut. bonum), if I want the acc. masc. or neut., I take the acc. of bonus or bonum respectively; if I want the acc. fem., I take the acc. of bona, which is bonam.

Lesson 23.

On finding the root of the perfect of verbs whose root ends in a t sound (that is, d or t).

When 'men' means 'human beings,' 'men' generally (including both sexes), it should be translated by homines.

When 'man' is used contemptuously, it should also be translated by 'homo,' because that word says nothing better of a person than that he is a human being.

When 'man' is used respectfully, with any praise, &c., it should be translated by 'vir,' because man is superior to woman.

*  Verbs of accusing, acquitting, and condemning, take a genitive of the charge. As transitive verbs they, of course, take an accusative of the person accused.

100. OBS. Where we describe a person or thing by a substantive and adjective governed by 'qf,' the Romans used either the genitive or the ablative.

Lesson 24.

Root of the perfect with lengthened (and often changed) vowel.

103. Other verbs form the root of the perfect by lengthening the vowel of the present: as ēd-ere, ēd.

^f We may suppose that it was originally 'to condemn a person the loss of the head,' or rather 'to a punishment of the head.'

104. If the vowel of the present is ă, the root of the perf. will have ē. Thus căp-ere, cēp.

105. Several of these verbs drop an n or m before the final mute.

Thus frang-ĕre, frăg, frĕg (break).
rump-ĕre, rup, rŭp (burst; break through).

 b) If 'it' has u or v before it, and the word is of more than two syllables, the tense is very likely to be the perfect.
 c) If the two first consonants of the root are the same, the tense is the perfect.

131.	1.	2.	3.	4.	} The third plural is formed regularly from all these forms by the insertion of an n before the t .
PRESENT (R. ^v)	ět,	ěăt,	ăt,	ιάt.
IMPERFECT (R.)	ārět,	ērět,	ērět,	īrět *
Perfect (r. ^v)	ěřit.
Pluperfect (r.)	issět.

132. The subjunctive present in a principal sentence is an imperative, or expresses a wish.

Hence, after ut (that) the subjunctive present is to be construed, 'he, &c. may —' without ut, it must be 'let him —, &c.' or 'may he —, &c.'

133. The subjunctive present used as an imperative takes nē for 'not' (ne putet, do not let him think).

Exercise 30.

134. Write down: That ^w he may shut. He would have shut. He would sleep. That he might irritate. That he may hear. That he may break. He may have broken. He would have burst. He would have divided.

Construe: Floreat. Ut florēret. Floruisset. Profuisset. Irritet. Ut irritet. Irritavisset. Divisisset. Ut cingēret. Cingat. Scribat. Ut scribat. Scripsisset. Ut scribēret. Plācet pueri animum. Ut filium suum sepeliret. Sepeliat filium. Iram meam placavissent. Servus nē claudat portas. Docet pueros, ut sapēre discant.

^v R. means root of present.

r. ——— root of perfect.

* OBS. The 3rd sing. of the imperfect subjunctive may be formed from the infinitive by adding t.

^w 'Ut' is 'that.'

Lesson 31.

135.  The infinitive in English often expresses a purpose: but the infinitive in Latin never does.

(Eng.) I am come to see you.

(Lat.) I am come that I may see you.

(Eng.) I came to see you.

(Lat.) I came that I might see you.

136.  The English infin. expressing a purpose may be translated by 'ut' with the subjunctive.

137. The imperfect subjunctive must be used when the verb is of a past tense^x; the present follows the other tenses.

138.  The 'perfect with have' (or 'perfect definite,' which denotes that something has been done in a still present period of time) is considered a present tense, and followed by the present subjunctive y.

Obs. Neuter verbs of motion form their perfect definite active with 'am:.' so that 'He is come' = 'He has come,' and is followed by pres. subjunctive z.

139. VOCABULARY 27.

	R.	r.
To eat,	ēd-ĕre,	ēd (103)	(edible).
To come,	vĕn-ire,	vĕn (103)	(ad-vent).
To learn,	disc-ĕre,	disc- (113, c)	(disciple).
To read,	lĕg-ere,	lĕg (103)	(legible).

140. (1) Vĕnit ut portas claudat.
He is coming that the gates he may shut.
(He is coming to shut the gates.)

(2) Vĕnit ut portas claudĕret.
He came that the gates he might shut.
(He came to shut the gates.)

(3) Vĕnit ut portas claudat.
He is come that the gates he may shut.
(He is come to shut the gates.)

^x That is of the imperfect, perfect, or pluperfect.

^y It is just so in English:

I write, or am writing,	} that I may, &c.
I shall write,
I have written,
I was writing,	} that I might, &c.
I wrote,
I had written,

^z So too 'was come' is the pluperf.

* The syllable prefixed is called a reduplication.

Exercise 31.

[What tense is 'he was come?' 138, z.]

141. He will come to surround the boy's head with a garland. He was come to surround the girl's head with a garland. He came to irritate the wasps. They were come to pull-down Sulla's house. He was come to give me an estate. They had come to condemn me to death^a. Do not shut the gate. He was come to raise the greatest forces he could^b. Let the girls sing. Let the boys learn^a to read. The boy has learnt^a to play.

[Construe ut with the subjunctive by the infinitive.]

Veniat servus, ut portas urbis claudat. Vēnit^b, ut quam maximas^a copias compāret. Lēgit, ut discat. Edit, ut vivat. Edit, ut vivēret. Non edunt, ut vivant; sed vivunt, ut edant. Romæ plurimi vivunt, ut edant. Veniat Caius, ut epistolam suā manu scribat. Cantet puella. Ludant pueri. Vēnerat Caius, ut Balbi animum donis placaret. Quiescant servi. Nemo quiescat. Vēnit, ut me audiat. Venērunt, ut me audiant. Venerunt, ut te audirent. Edunt, ut vitam conservent.

Lesson 32.

142. After 'such,' 'so,' 'of such a kind,' &c. 'that' must be translated by 'ut,' and the verb after 'that' must be in the subjunctive in Latin, though in English it is in the indicative.

143. VOCABULARY 28.

So great,	tantus	(tantamount).
Mountain,	mons, mont-is, m.
Highest,	summus	(summit).

^a Disco is followed by the infinitive (not by ut with the subjunctive).

^b OBS. When the present subjunctive follows a perfect, the perfect must be translated by 'has,' or, if it is a verb of motion, by 'is,' because the use of a present proves it to be the perfect definite. See 137.

Top of,	} summus, { in agreement with }	(mediæval).
Middle, or midst of,
Snow,	nix, niv-is. Gender?
Alps,	Alpes, Alpium, &c.
Cold,	frig-ûs, ôris. Gender?	(frigid).
Not-yet,	nondum.
Fish,	piscis, G. pisc-is, m.	(piscatory).
Pavement,	pavimentum.
White,	candidus, a, um	(candid).
Wine,	vinum	(vinous).
Preserve,	conservare	(conservative).
To swim,	nâtäre.
To melt,	liquesce-ëre, licu	(liquid).

144. In summis Alpibus tantum est frigus,
 On the top of the Alps so great is the cold,
 ut nix ibi nunquam liquescat.
that the snow there never melts.

145. (Eng.) On the top of the mountain.
 (Lat.) On the highest mountain. (In summo monte.)
 (Eng.) In the middle (or midst) of the waters.
 (Lat.) In the middle waters. (In mediis aquis.)

Exercise 32.

146. On the top of the mountain¹¹ the snow never melts. On the top of the Alps the snows never melt. The cold is so-great, that the snow is not-yet melted^c. The fish is swimming in the middle of the water. Boys swim on the top of the waters. The pavement is swimming with wine. Let the slave come^d. He was eating, to preserve his life. He will swim, to preserve his life. May the snows melt! The boy is singing on the top of the oak. The boys will dance on the top of the mountain.

OBS. The subjunctive after ut must be rendered in English by the indicative, when a tantus stands in the former clause.

In summis montibus tantum erat frigus, ut nix ibi nunquam liquesceret. Venit, ut patriam auro vendat.

^c 'Is melted,' like 'is come,' is the perf. active.

^d The third person of the present subjunctive is used as an imperative.

Imprōbi homīnes patriam auro vendidērunt. In summo monte tantum est frigus, ut nix ibi nondum licuērit*. Tanta est pueri industria, ut multa discat. Nix est candida. Vēnit, ut patriæ suæ leges violaret. Avis in summâ arbore cantabat.

Lesson 33.

147. Subjunctive of esse.

Present, sit.—Imperfect, esset. (Fuērit, fuisset, regular from fu.)

148. The verb 'can,' 'am able,' is made up of an old adjective 'potis,' meaning 'able,' and the verb 'to be:' but the two words were run together into one with some change.

149. To get the third persons of 'to be able' from 'to be.'

☞ Place pot before the third persons of to be, throwing away the f from those that begin with that letter; and change t into s before another s, shortening potess into poss. We thus get (from the forms in 123) potest, possunt: potērat: potērit, potērunt: and potu (for potfu) for the root of the perfect.

The subjunctive will be possit, posset, &c. Infin. posse.

150. Some verbs whose root ends in a k sound, throw away the k sound before s:

sparg-ēre, spars.
merg-ēre, mers.

151. VOCABULARY 29.

Nest,	nīdus.
Bird,	avis, G. avis		(aviary).
Seed,	sēmen, semīnis.	Gender?	(disseminate).
Dangerous,	pericul-ōsus*		(perilous).
Danger,	pericūlum		(peril).
Victim,	victīma.
Altar,	āra.

* What was said of the present and imperfect subjunctive, may be extended to the perfect and pluperfect.

☞ The imperfect and pluperfect of the subjunctive are the regular attendants of the past tenses.

* Adjectives in ōsus mean full of what the substantive they are derived from denotes: as, periculosus, full of danger.

Sprinkle,	adspergo, r. adspers	(asperse).
Priest,	sacerdo-s, ōtis	(sacerdotal).
	R. r.
To plunge into (trans.),	immerg-ēre, immers.
Scatter,	sparg-ēre, spars	(sparse).
To build (said of a nest),	con-stru-ēre, con-strux ^f	(construe).

152. The particles nē (e short) and num are interrogative particles; and when a question has no interrogative pronoun, or adverb of place, time, or manner, one of these particles should be put in.

Nē should always follow and be joined to a word. If there is a 'not' in the sentence, it should be joined to the 'non' (nonnē).

153. Nonnē scribit? Is not he writing?
Scribitnē Caius? Is Caius writing?
Num scribit Caius? Is Caius writing? (No.)
Arare potest. He can plough.
Potestnē arare? Can he plough?

OBS. 'Num' is used when the answer 'no' is expected; so that 'num scribit Caius?' means, 'Caius is not writing, is he?'

Exercise 33.

When the answer 'no' is expected, it will be added thus: [No.]

~~See~~ The 'to' of the infin. is omitted in English after can, may, might, &c., and see, hear, feel, bid, dare, make &c.

154. Does he live to eat? [No.] Does not he eat to live? The husbandman has scattered seeds. Have not the husbandmen scattered seeds? He has plunged the body into the middle of the waters. Let fish swim in the midst of the waters. They *are come*²⁹ to condemn²⁸ you *to death*³. Can he swim in the *middle of the waters*¹⁰? [No.] The boy's industry is so great, that he can learn all things. Has not a wolf bitten the sheep? Are you shearing the sheep?

[In construing, omit the nē or num, but make the sentence a question.]

^f This seems a very irregular perfect; probably the verb was struvēre originally.

³ Hence the verb that follows can, could, &c. is in the infinitive mood in Latin.

[In a question, the auxiliary verb must stand before the nominative case : and the form 'do—does,' 'did,' must be used for the present and perfect respectively. (The perfect definite must still be translated by have, has.)]

Caius se in flumen immersit. Galli manus in aquam immerserant. Periculōsum est, hiēme ¹²⁾ se in flumen immergēre. Puer se in flumen immergat ³⁰⁾. Agricolārum est semina auctumno ⁹⁾ spargēre. Nonnē in summis Alpibus tantum est frigus, ut nix ibi nunquam liquescat? Avis in summā quercu nidum construxerat. Scripsitnē Caius? Sacerdos victimarum sanguine aram adpersit. Num rex portas urbis suā manu claudet? Nonnē boni est pastōris tondēre oves, non deglubēre?

Lesson 34.

Root of Supine.

155. There are two supines in Latin : one in um, and another in u.

156. ¶ The supine in um follows verbs of motion to express the purpose : it must be Englished by the present infinitive active (amātum, to love).

157. The supine in u follows some adjectives, and is Englished by the present infinitive passive.

But it may be Englished by the infin. act. when that gives better English ^h. Both supines are really active : factum is '(for) doing :' factu, 'in doing.'

These forms very seldom occur : but they are given in grammars and dictionaries, because two of the participles are formed from the root of the supine.

158. The root of the supine (which will be marked by p.) ends in t ; sometimes in s.

159. In the first, second, and fourth conjugations, the root of the supine is regularly obtained by adding ^h See 163.

1. 2. 4.
āt, īt, īt, to the roots of the present.
 (amāt) (monīt) (audīt)

In the third, t is added to the root: but sometimes s (especially to the t sounds).

160. OBS. Any p sound before t is pt (or pt = pt or bt).

Any k sound before t is ct (or ct = ct, gt, or gut).

Hence scrib-tum, reg-tum, must be written scriptum, rectum. Remember that d, and sometimes g, will be thrown away before s. (See 96, 150.)

161. VOCABULARY 30.

To forage (supine),	pabulātum.
To fetch water (supine),	aquatūm.
To lie down,	cubītum (supine from cubāre).
To go to bed; to go to roost,	cubītum ire.
To send,	mitt-ēre, r. mīs (for mit-s); p. miss (re-mīt).
To go,	ire k.
To go a hunting,	{ venātum ire (venātum, supine , to) } (venison). hunt
To go away,	ab-ire k, r. abi.
To return,	red-ire k, r. redi.
Hen,	gallina.
Evening,	vesp-er, G. ēris (vespers).
Legion,	legi-o, G. ōnis. Gender?
Fourth,	quartus.
Pleasant,	jūcundus.
To seek, to sue for,	petere, r. petiv-, p. petīt (petition).
Ambassador,	legat-us, i (legate).

162. Mittit legātos pacem petītum.

He sends ambassadors peace to sue-for (to sue for peace).

163. (Eng.) It is hard to say¹.

(Lat.) It is hard (in) saying (difficile est dictu).

^k Ire is of the fourth, but with some irregularities: r. iv.: p. īt.

Indicative.			Subjunctive.		The participle, which will be wanted presently, is iens , G. euntis , &c. Gerunds, eundi , &c.
Pres.	it,	eunt.	eat.	iret.
Imperf.	ibat.
Fut.	ibit.

The compounds ab-ire, red-ire, are conjugated exactly in the same way (prefixing ab, red, to these forms), but they generally drop v from the root of the perf. (redi-ērit, redi-isset, &c.; not redivērit, redivisset).

¹ Hence after hard, pleasant, &c., the active infinitive is to be translated by the supine in u.

Exercise 34.

164. The hens go to roost in the evening. The boy had gone a hunting. Cæsar has sent the fourth legion to forage. Has not Cæsar sent the fourth legion to fetch water? Are not the boys gone²⁹⁾ a hunting? Cæsar has not-yet returned to Rome^m. Cæsar had returned from Geneva to Rome. Balbus will go-away in the evening.

[Form the supine in u from aud-ire : fac-ere (159).]

Nonnē cubitum eunt gallinæ vespēri? Tīmīda avis in summā quercu nidum construēbat. Plato Tarentum vēnit. Servum Athēnas misērat. Caium Athēnas mittat³⁰⁾. Jucundum est audītu. Difficile est factu (163). Nonnē sacerdōtes aram sanguīne adspersērunt? Sacerdōtis est, aras omnes victimārum sanguīne adspergere. Vēnit sacerdos, ut aram sanguīne adspergat.

When the place is a town or small island, the place to which is put in the accusative; the place from which, in the ablative.

The participle in us answers to the English participle in ed, en, t, &c. (shocked, taken, hurt).

The participle in dus must be translated by the present infinitive passive, as used with a substantive. (A termination to be desired: a crime to be abhorred.)

The participle in rus must be translated by 'about to (write);' or, 'going to (write).'

168. VOCABULARY 32.

(Words that are construed like proper names of towns. 72, note s.)

On the ground,	hūmi.
At home,	dōmi, fem.

ⁿ First find root of supine (1) by adding t to cīng (159, 160), and to frag (see 105, 159, and 160); (2) by adding s to merg, sparg, claud (see 159); and (3) from the roots of viol-āre, habit-āre (by 159).

At my house,	dōmi meæ (At his own house, domi suæ).
On service; in the field,	militiæ.
Home (to or towards } home), }	dōmum (after verbs of motion).
From home,	dōmo.
In the country,	rūri, abl. (or, rare).
Into the country,	rūs (neut. acc.).
From the country,	rūre.

Both ° (adv.),	et; properly and .
Neither,	neque, or nec, } neque is rather to be pre-
Nor,	neque, or nec, } ferred before a vowel.
To sing,	can-ēre (r. cecin; p. cant).

169. (Eng.) Cæsar having conquered his enemies, &c.
 (Lat.) Cæsar, when he had conquered his enemies, &c.
 (or) Cæsar, his enemies being conquered, &c.

(a) Cæsar, quum vicisset hostes, &c.

(b) (or) Cæsar, victis hostibus, &c.

170. A substantive and participle are said to be put absolutely, when they are not governed by the verb, or any other word in the sentence.

☞ In Latin, words put absolutely are in the ablative.

(This construction is called the ablative absolute.)

171. OBS. ☞ The want of a participle in Latin for the perfect active is supplied by the ablative absolute, or by quum (when) with the perfect or pluperfect subjunctive. The perfect subjunctive must be used, if the other verb is in the present tense.

Exercise 36.

172. Balbus having crowned^p the boy's head with a garland, went away. The slave having shut^q the gate of the city, is going to bed^r. Cæsar having conquered his enemies (169, b) will return to Rome. The leaves are falling down on the ground. Cæsar is remaining at his-own-house. Balbus was with me^r

° Thus instead of 'both Caius and Balbus,' the Romans said 'and Caius and Balbus' (et Caius et Balbus).

^p Translate by 'when he had crowned.'

^q Translate by 'the gate of the city being shut.'

^r OBS. Cum, 'with,' is written after, and joined to, the ablatives of the personal pronouns (mecum, tuecum, nobiscum, &c.: not cum me nor me cum).

both at home and on-service. Balbus had lived many years in the country.

(What is mecum made up of?)

Balbus, quum manus in aquam immersisset, abiit. Folia nondum decidērant. Puer Romam mittendus est. Balbus nec^s domi nec militiæ mecum fuit. Caius rus ex urbe evolavērit. Caius nondum rure rediit. Et Cæsar et Balbus Romam rediērunt. Vēnit sacerdos, ut aram floribus cingēret. Sacerdos, quum aras sanguine adpersisset, abiit.

[Observe: in construing an ablative absolute, the substantive must be placed first without a preposition, and the participle (if the Latin participle is that of the perf. pass.) is to be that used with 'being': as, Gallis victis, the Gauls being conquered.]

But having so translated it, you may turn the participle into that of the perf. act. (with 'having') governing the substantive, whenever this change improves your sentence without altering its meaning: as, Gallis victis, having conquered the Gauls.]

Fracto puēri brachio, abit. Alexander, victo Dario, rediit. Avis, constructo in summā quercu nido, canit. Violātis patriæ lēgibus, vitā²⁴ indignus est. Fundo in tres partes divīso, redit Tarentum. Sacerdos, adpersâ sanguine arâ, abiit. Caius, ruptis vinculis, evolavit. Scriptâ epistolâ, abiit.

Lesson 37.

Gerunds.

173. The Gerunds in di are formed from the root of the present, and end in

1.	2.	3.	4.
andi,	endi,	endi,	iendi.

(Hence they are always like the gen. of the participle in dus.)

* In construing two nec's or neque's, it is often better to borrow a 'not' from them for the verb, and then to construe them by either—or instead of neither—nor. Thus, 'he was with me neither yesterday nor the day before,' would become 'he was not with me either yesterday or the day before.'

174. The gerund is translated by the 'participial substantive' in 'ing.'

☞ When that which is in form the participle in ing, governs or is governed, but has nothing to agree with, it is the participial substantive.

175. The gerund may be considered as a verbal substantive of the neuter gender; but we must borrow the infinitive mood for its nominative: it has no plural.

N. (occidēre, killing.)

G. occidendi, of killing.

D. occidendo, to or for killing.

Acc. { (occidere) .

Abl. occidendo, by killing.

The Gerund governs a noun; in the same case, of course, which the verb it comes from governs.

183. The boy is very-fond of writing letters. Demosthēnes was very-fond of hearing Plato. In the times of Cicero the Gauls retained the barbarous custom of sacrificing men. Seize every opportunity of practising virtue. Do not lose the opportunities of practising virtue. Nature has given us a desire of seeing the truth. The Romans were fond of waging war. Timotheus was skilful³⁹⁾ in governing a state.

[OBS. Any case of the partic. in dus, except the nominative, must be construed by the same case of the participial substantive ; and the substantive with which it agrees must stand as the accusative after it.]

v Properly, 'to strew the sacred flour or cake (mola salsa) on the victim's head : ' from in, on, and mola.

v This verb, though of the third, follows the fourth in the imperfect, &c. as will be explained below. See note x, p. 61.

Nonnē fundum ingenti pecuniā ²¹⁾ ēmērat? Balbus omnem occasiōnem exercendæ virtutis arripiebāt. Multi cupidiōres sunt emendōrum librōrum, quam legendōrum. Cæsar belli gerendi peritus fuit. Nonnē mores puerorum se inter ludendum (177) detēgunt?

Lesson 39.

184. OBS. After 'is,' 'are,' and the other parts of the verb 'to be,' the form of the infinitive passive is used in Latin as a participle of the future passive, to signify duty, necessity, &c.

185. Hence what is in English expressed by the passive infinitive is to be translated in Latin by the participle in dus, when it follows 'is,' 'are,' &c.

186. Virtus colenda est.
Virtus to-be-cultivated is.
[Virtue is to be cultivated.]

☞ The agent, or person by whom, is put in the dative with the part. in dus; with other words it is generally governed in the ablative by a or ab.

187. VOCABULARY 35.

By accident,	casu; abl. of casus	(casual).
Some,	nonnulli, æ, a (non, not ; nullus, none).
To sharpen,	acuere, acu, acūt	(acute).
Unprofitable,	inutilis (in, not ; utilis, useful).
A game,	lūsus, G. ūs .

	Not only — but also.
	Non solum — verum etiam.
To spend (time, &c.),	{ impendere, impend, impens (followed by dat. of participle in dus).

* Some verbs of the third have the terminations of the fourth (in the parts hitherto given), except in the imperfect subjunctive, the infinitive and the imperative. Thus arripere has arripiebat, arripiet, arripiat, arripiens, arripiendus.

188. Ne Balbus quidem.
 Not Balbus even (not even Balbus).
Ne patrem quidem amat.
 Not his father even does he love!

Obs. 'Not' with 'even' (quidem), in the sentence, must be translated by nē; and quidem must follow the word to which the even belongs; the nē being put before that word.

Exercise 39.

189. Every opportunity of practising virtue¹⁴ is to be seized^x. Even Caius did not seize every opportunity of practising virtue. The gate is to be shut in the evening¹²⁾. *Balbus having flown*³⁵⁾ to the country³⁷⁾ from the town, bought an estate for an immense sum-of-money. The boys are fonder of playing than of learning. *How much time*⁴ do they spend in reading books¹³? Let him buy the estate for a large sum-of-money.

[Obs. After ad, the gerund or part. in dus may be construed by the infinitive: as, ad discendum, to learn.

Nemo est casu bonus: discenda est virtus. Sunt nonnulli acuendis puerorum ingeniis non inutiles lusus. Non solum ad discendum propensi sunt, verum etiam ad docendum. Homo ad intelligendum et agendum natus est. Multa nos ad suscipiendum discendi laborem impellunt. Multa impellunt Caium, ut discendi laborem suscipiat^x. Mores puerorum se inter ludendum detexerant. Omnem dicendi^{*} elegantiam augēbit legendis oratoribus et poētis.

Lesson 40.

Verbs followed by the dative.

190. Some verbs are followed by the dative, where we use no preposition, and where we should therefore be led by the English to put an accusative.
191. A dative put—remember pray—
 After envy, spare, obey,

^x See note, p. 61.

^{*} In speaking.

Persuade, believe, command; to these

With vacāre, 'to have leisure,'
And placēre, 'to give pleasure:'
With nubēre (of the female said),
The English of it is 'to wed:'
Servīre add, and add studēre,
Heal, favour, hurt, resist, and indulgēre.

192. VOCABULARY 36.

Exercise 40.

193. How do you translate not only—but also? (187.)

194. It is the duty of a Christian to envy nobody.
Do not envy the good. It is pleasant to succour the miserable. Atticus pleased me. Nobody will believe the wicked. Death spares nobody. They had spared the gate of the city. Portia will marry Caius. Drusilla married Caius in the autumn. He spares himself

√ Of these, succurrēre, 'to run to support,' is stronger than subvēnīre, 'to come to support.'

in the winter. He does not spare even himself. He spares not only himself, but also his slave. You will never have persuaded me. Let the Christian learn to command himself.

195. OBS. Est, sunt may be construed 'must,' 'ought,' or 'should,' when they have a participle in dus with them; the part. in dus being translated into English by the infln. passive.

Cæsar legendo libro vacābit. Christiāni est patriæ suæ legibus parēre. Ignosce mihi. Nemo tibi credet. Imprōbus patriæ legibus non parēbit. Num legibus parēbunt imprōbi, violātâ fide? Discant Christiāni animis suis imperāre. Sapientia ars vivendi putanda est. Sapientia ars est bene beateque vivendi.

Lesson 41.

196. The most common terminations of the persons in the active voice are:—

Sing.				Plur.
1.	2.	3.		1.	2.	3.
m,	s,	t.		mus,	tis,	nt.

197. By changing t into these terminations, we may get all the persons of the imperfect and pluperfect of the indicative, and of all the subjunctive ².

198. But observe the vowel before mus, tis is long in these tenses, except in the perf. subjunctive, in which it is common ².

199. VOCABULARY 37.

[Verbs governing the dative continued.]

To be the slave of (to),	servire, servi (or serviv), servit (to serve).
To devote oneself to; aim at, stūdere	(study).
To hurt, injure,	nōcēre (noxious).

² Refer to the table in the Appendix, p. 116.

² That is, long or short. The old grammarians made it short in the perf., long in the fut. perfect.

To resist,
To favour,
To indulge; humour,
Assistance,

resistēre, resisti.
favēre, fav, faut.
indulgēre, indulg.
adjumentum.

Exercise 41. [See question 28, p. 131.]

200. I would have favoured Caius. You would have resisted anger. You (pl.) would have hurt nobody. We would have indulged the desire. I was hurting myself. You were hurting me. You were flaying the sheep, not shearing (them). Come to shut the gates of the city. Was he come, to shut the gates of the city? You had hurt Caius. You had been-the-slave-of passion. Do not be-the-slave-of passion. You were come to surround the girl's head with a crown. He had displeased Caius. You were sparing the enemies.

[What is the imperative of vēnīre? What tense is used as an imperative? (The subj. present.)]

Violābas legem. Barbāram consuetudinē immolandōrum homīnum retinuissētis. Irā multos annos serviēras. Ne violētis fidem. Portas urbis ne claudātis. Vēni, ut mihi succurras. Regendis anīmi cupiditatibus studeāmus. Homo magna habet adjumenta ad obtinendam sapientiam. Tondendæ sunt oves, non deglubendæ. Nonnē claudendæ sunt urbis portæ? Exercenda est virtus.

Lesson 42.

201. 'Is,' properly 'that,' is used for he, she, it, plur. they^b, when they do not mean the same person or thing that the nominative case means.

202. 'Is' has neuter id.

The other cases are formed as if from 'eus, ea, cum,' making the gen. eius, written ejus, and dat. ei.

^b Is, 'that person' = he.

Ea, 'that female' = she, &c.

But in the plural, the nom. masc. and the dative are generally ii, and iis, instead of eis ^c.

203. VOCABULARY 38.

Long,	diu. Longer, diutius .
To recal,	revocāre	(to revoke).
Literature,	litræ (plur.).
So,	tam.
So great,	tantus.
Multitude,	multitūd-o, G. īnis .
To count,	nūmrāre	(numeration).
To increase,	augēre, r. aux, p. auct	(augment).

204. Si diutius vixisset, neminem habuisset
If longer he had lived, nobody he would have had parem.
equal.
(If he had lived longer, he would have had no equal.)

205. OBS.  After 'if' the pluperf. indicative must be translated by the pluperfect subjunctive.

Exercise 42.

206. If they had lived longer, they would have done that. If Caius had lived longer, he would have given me ²²⁾ an estate. If they had obeyed you, they would be alive ^d. So-great is the multitude of the stars, that ³¹⁾ you cannot count them. I would have pardoned you, if you had done that. They were aiming at recalling the kings ⁴²⁾.

^c Hence the cases are,

Is, ea, id : G. ejus : D. ei : Acc. eum, eam, id : Abl. eo, eā, eo.

Plur. ii, eae, ea : G. eorum, earum, eorum : D. and Abl. iis (or eis) : Acc. eos, eas, ea.

OBS. When his, her, its; theirs, are to be translated by 'is,' they are translated by the genitive.

When his, her, its; theirs, are translated by suus, suus must agree with its substantive.

Ejus libri, his books; eorum libri, their books; sui libri, his or their books.

^d Translate as if it were 'they would live.'

[~~66~~ When the pluperf. subjunctive has si, it must be translated by 'had,' not by 'would have.']

Peccavissent, si id fecissent. Pareat animus, non impēret*. Nonnē Caius scribendæ epistolæ vācavit? Patriam auro, si potuisses, vendidisses. Nonnē mores puerōrum se inter ludendum detēgunt? Malus pastor deglupsisset oves, non totondisset. Si oratōres et poētas legisset, auxisset elegantiam dicendi.

Lesson 43.

207. Sing. Mihi[†] scribendum est, I must or should write.
 Tibi scribendum est, you must or should write.
 Illi scribendum est, he must or should write.
Plur. Nobis scribendum est, we must or should write.
 Vobis scribendum est, you must or should write.
 Illis scribendum est, they must or should write.

208. (Eng.) I must (or should) write.
 (Lat.) It is to-be-written by me.

209.  After the part. in dus, the person by whom is put in the dative.

- (a) If we or you in English means 'every body,' or 'people in general,' the pronoun is left out in Latin.
 (b) Hence 'edendum est' is { 'we should eat,' or 'you should eat.'
 (c) The dative is also left out, whenever the persons meant are not likely to be mistaken.

Exercise 43 s.

210. Caius must not sleep. (We) must remain at Rome the whole winter¹²⁾. We must live well. We must dwell in the country. We must remain at home. We must fly from the city (into) the country³⁷⁾.

* The auxiliary verb is omitted with the second of two verbs. Not, 'let him come, and let him take it;' but, 'let him come and take it.'

† Explanation. The real meaning of 'scribendum est mihi' is, 'it is to-be-written by me.'

s In doing the exercise, remember,

(1.) That the English nominative is to be put in the dative, if a particular person (or persons) is meant; but left untranslated, if what is said holds good of people in general.

(2.) The participle in dus is to be formed from the verb, and written down in the neuter gender with est.

The wicked think little of virtue. Does not the avaricious man value money very highly? Will a Christian fear death? [No.]

Evolandum est ex urbe. Manendum est Romæ. Totam hiemem manendum est Carthagine. Quiescendum est, ut vitam conservemus. Ambulandum est per urbem. Laborandum est, ut discas. Discrepat a ludendo laborare. Nonne laborandum est, ut discamus? Num semper ludendum est? Epistola suâ manu scribenda est. Crabrônes non sunt irritandi. Crabrônem ne irrîtes. Irritasne crabrônem?

Lesson 44.

211. The third persons of the pres. and imperf. subj. of esse (to be) are sit, esset, from which the other persons may be formed by 196.

212. Pres.	sim, sis, sit,		sîmus, sîtis, sint.
Imperf.	essem, esses, esset,		essêmus, essêtis, essent.

213. From these forms those of posse may be got, as before explained: 149.

Present subj. possit. [(that) he may be able.]
Imperf. subj. posset. [(that) he might be able.]

214. VOCABULARY 39.

Self,	}	ipse ^h , ipsa, ipsum.
I myself,
You yourself,
Itself, &c.
To fight,	}	pugnâre	(pugnacious).
Rightly; well,		rectê; adv. from rectus , right.
To hold one's tongue,		tacêre	(tacit).
Even,	}	etiam; placed before the word it belongs to.
Bad,		malus.
Crop,		sêgês, segêt-is, f.
To sow,		sêrêre, sêv, sât.

^h 'Ipse' is declined throughout as if it were ipsus, making Gen. ius. Ipse, ipsa, ipsum, G. ipsius, D. ipsi, Acc. ipsum, ipsam, ipsum, &c. It must be construed as 'I myself' when the verb is of the first person; 'you yourself,' when the verb is of the second person.

But ~~and~~ it is better sometimes to place the 'myself,' 'yourself,' after the verb and its accusative, &c. 'I was breaking the law myself.'

Exercise 44.

215. The unlearned must labour, that they may learn. Is it the business of a shepherd to scatter seeds? [No.] The boy must rest, that he may-be-able to play. We must fight, that we may preserve our lives. Boys must hold-their-tongues. The girls must walk through the city. True greatness of mind must be valued at-a-very-high-price.

Impröbisⁱ metuendum est. Discendum est^k, ut possis docere. Edendum est, ut possimus vivere. Tacendum est. Etiam post malam segētem serendum est. Nonne eam legem ipse violābas? Nonne fundum ingenti pecuniā ēmēras? Nonne Christianōrum est misēris succurrere? Scriptā epistolā, legit.

Lesson 45.

216. If the verb governs the dative (191), 'we' or 'you' should be untranslated¹:

Credendum est Caio.

We should believe Caius. (Not, 'Caius should believe.')

217. VOCABULARY 40.

Sea-water; salt-water, aqua marīna.

To invent, in-vēnīre, vēm, vent.

Lust, { lubīd-o, G. īnis. Gender?

{ or libīdo

(libidinous).

ⁱ (a) To read off such sentences at sight, take the dative as the nominative to 'should' or 'must'; and add the verb unaltered:

Omnibus, all men, moriendum est, must die.

(b) If no dative is expressed, put 'we' or 'you' for the nominative before 'must.'

^k If the next verb is of the second person, put you for the nom. of must.

^l If it be necessary to express the agent (the person who is to do the action), it must be either expressed by the preposition a (or ab); or the form of the expression must be altered. The two datives would leave it doubtful which expressed the agent.

222. VOCABULARY 41.

To rob,	spoliāre	(spoliation).
To defraud,	fraudāre	(fraud).
To deprive,	privāre	(privation).

Before (before that), conjunction *,	antēquam, priusquam.
Before, adverb ,	antea.
So,	adeo.
Hitherto, yet,	adhuc.
Strong,	robustus, a, um	(robust).
Soldier,	mil-es, G. itis	(militant).
Contest,	certam-en, G. inis, neut.

Obs. In antēquam, priusquam, the words are often separated by other words intervening: ante—quam.

Exercise 46.

[The pres. subj. is used as an imperative.]

223. We should favour the good. We should believe Caius, because he has never deceived us. We must surround the boy's head with a crown. We must shut the gate of the city in the evening. Do not defraud (plur.) me of my praise. Do not deprive me

* From de, from; cap̄re, to take: this verb is one of those which prefix an i to the termination (that is, take the terminations of the fourth) except in the present infinitive, and the two tenses which we have shown how to get from the present infinitive; that is, the imperf. subjunctive and the imperative. See 187, note x. In the pres. indic. they follow the fourth, but have i short (io, is, it, imus, itis, iunt). See 22, p. 120.

* Or conjunctive adverb; standing first in its sentence, and connecting it with another sentence.

of my eyes. Having written his letter (169, a), he went to bed. Do not the wicked deprive virtue herself of her praise? You are depriving (pl.) me of my praise. Will you break the laws of your country? Virtue must be cultivated, that you may live well and happily. (Translate as if it were, may-be-able to live.)

[When 'ante' or 'prius' is in one sentence, and the next begins with 'quam,' take no notice of the word till you get to quam, and translate ante-quam, prius-quam by 'before.']

Non est ante edendum, quam fames impērat. Apollinis templum omni argento spoliāvit. Ne grano quidem uno paupēres fraudētis. Ne me luce privētis. Oculisne me, iudices, privabītis? Ne grano quidem uno fraudandi sunt paupēres. Athēnis habitandum est, ut discāmus recte vivēre. Romam migrandum est, ut discātis civitātem regere. Etiam post malam segētem serēmus. Leges patriæ violātis. Violātis patriæ legibus (169), meā me laude spoliātis. Num meā me laude spoliabītis? Dicendi elegantia legendis oratoribus et poētis augenda est.

Lesson 47.

Plup. }	(r.)	past partic. with esse 'to be'				(Passive).

- (a) The future infinitive active is made up, as in English, of 'to be,' with the future participle active.

In the passive, the future infinitive is made up of the supine with iri.

- (b) Thus from amāre the infinitives are am-āre, am-av-isse; amatūrum esse, amātum esse, and amātum iri.

225. ¶ The infinitives made up of two words are called compound infinitives.

☞ The participles of the compound infinitives * must agree with their substantives; but of course the supine remains unaltered.

- (a) Videt te esse beātum.
He sees that you are happy.
- (b) Sperat se victūrum esse
He hopes that he shall live.

226. Two English sentences joined by the conjunction 'that' are often made one Latin sentence, by leaving out the conjunction, and turning the nominative into the accusative, and the verb into the infinitive.

227. To turn such a sentence into Latin,

- (1) Take no notice of 'that ;'
- (2) Translate the English nominative by the Latin accusative ;
- (3) Translate the English verb by the infinitive of the same tense.

Exercise 47.

228. He sees, that you are happy. If he had come, he would have seen that you are happy. He says, that you have surrounded the girl's head with a garland. It is certain (certum est), that a Christian does not fear death. It is certain, that the boy has heard a voice. It is certain, that Balbus will value my labours *very highly*². It is certain, that the avaricious value money very highly. It is certain, that the father will avenge the death of his son. It is certain, that Caius has removed to *Athens*³³), that he may learn to live well. It is certain, that Balbus will be condemned to death.

Certum est, in summis Alpibus tantum esse frigus, ut nix ibi nunquam liquescat. Certum est, stellarum tantam esse multitudinem, ut numerāri non possint. Certum est, Balbum patriam auro vendidisse. Certum est, avem in summā quercu nidum constructuram esse. Certum est Cæsarem belli gerendi peritum fuisse. Hic miles est adeo robustus, ut adhuc nemo eum in certamine superaverit.

* They are set down in the acc. masc.

Lesson 48.

Forms of the Passive. (Tenses from the root of the present.)

229. The third persons of the passive are formed from the third persons of the active by adding ur†.

(a) But the vowel before the t is long, except from it (of the third), ābit and ēbit.

230. ☞ The Imperative pass. is like the infinitive active.

(Note. Literally, 'quo minus' = by which the less, or so that the less. Caio nihil obstat, quo minus sit beatus, is literally "Nothing stands in the way of Caius, by which he should be the less happy.")

Lesson 66.

315. After words of 'fearing,' 'ne' and 'ut' appear to change meanings: ne = that (or lest): ut = that —not. (Also the subjunct. present must generally be construed by the future.)

Vereor ut,	} I fear he will not ; or lest he should not .

Metuo, ne artificium tuum tibi parum prosit.
I fear thy contrivance will profit thee little.

Lesson 67.

ON INTERROGATIVES.

317. All interrogatives take the indicative, when the question is put directly: they then stand at the head of a principal sentence, and are followed, of course, by a note of interrogation.

a. Num, an, and nē (which is always appended to another word), are not construed in direct sentences.

b. Num (in direct questions) expects the answer 'no.' An expects the answer 'no,' and expresses *impatience, indignation, &c.*¹ Nonnē expects the answer 'yes.'

c. The force of 'an' may generally be given by adding 'why' or 'then' to the question.

An credis? { Why, do you believe . . . ?
 { Do you believe then . . . ?

Exercise 67.

318. Quis non paupertatem extimescit? Unde lucem suam habet luna? Quid interest^m inter hominem et bestiam? Quid feret crastinus dies? Quare vitia sua nemo confitetur? Cur te excrucias? Quid rides?

Ubi aut qualis est tua mens? Potesnē dicere?—Num sola maris aqua est salsa? Visne miser esse? Estne animus immortalis? Nonne poētæ post mortem nobilitari volunt? Num scinus, quo se confērant aves peregrinantes? An tu esse me tristem putas? An quisquam potest sine perturbatione mentis irasci?*

Obs. Ne is often appended to the other particles; numnē, annē, &c.

¹ A question with nē may be such as to make us confidently expect 'yes' or 'no' for the answer. But the answer is then suggested by the nature of the question, not by the form of it.

^m What difference is there? intersum.

* Betake themselves.

Lesson 68.

319. All interrogatives take the subjunctive when they ask indirectly or doubtfully; especially when another verb goes before the question.

(a) Such verbs are ask, doubt, try, not know; it is uncertain, &c.

(b) Num, an, nē, in a dependent sentence, are 'whether;' and 'num' does not imply that the answer 'no' is expected.

(c) An is never used by Cicero in a single indirect question.

Exercise 68.

320. *Quis enumeretⁿ artium multitudinem? Nescio, unde sol ignem habeat. Dic mihi, quem sol nobis adferat usum. Nescimus, quid serus vesper advecturus sit^o. Quid futurum sit, nescimus. [Indirect or dependent.] Quæritur, unusne sit mundus an plures? Nihil refert^s, utrum sit aureum poculum, an vitreum.

(2) [Direct.] Uter est infelicior, cæcus an surdus? Utrum est pretiosius, aurum an argentum? ^s It makes no difference.

^u Prosum.

^x It makes a great difference.

Exercise 70.

Note.—With most of these conjunctions, the present (subjunctive) must be construed by a past tense.

324. Utinam pacis amor omnibus inspirari possit! Utinam ense nullus magistratus egeat! O si quisque virtutem colat! O si omnes cogitent, mediocritatem in omnibus rebus esse optimam! Animalibus brutis nulla futuri temporis cognitio est, licet sit aliqua præsentis et præteriti. Impröbus ita vivit, quasi nesciat, rationem vitæ sibi esse reddendam. Lesson 71.

ON PARTICIPIES.

325. Participles assume an assertion, which may be formally stated in a sentence whenever it is necessary or convenient to do so.

Thus, 'I went to Henry, being ill,' might be expressed (according to the meaning) by 'I went to Henry, who was ill:' 'I went to Henry, because he was ill:' 'I went to Henry, though he was ill,' &c.

326. Translate the participles in the following examples by relative sentences.

(5) ridēdis, of him who laughs; or, of a man who laughs.

(6) ridendum, of those who laugh; or, of men who laugh.

328. With a neuter plural participle, 'things' is to be supplied; but for 'things which or that,' it is generally better to use 'what' only.

(7) præteritura, { things that will pass away.
 { what will pass away.

Exercise 71.

329. Pii homines ad felicitatem perpetuo duraturam pervenient. Nemo, cunctam intuens terram, de divinâ providentiâ dubitabit. Hæ sunt divitiæ certæ, semper permansuræ. Male agentis (327, 5) animus nunquam est sine metu. Garrulus tacere nequit ³ sibi commissa (328, 7). Adulator aut laudat vituperanda, aut vituperat laudanda.

Lesson 72.

330. Construe the participles in the following Exercise by verbs with 'when,' 'as.'

* Put in a 'but' before simulantes.

• Nequeo, nequis, nequit.

- (1) ridens, { when he is (or was) laughing.
 { as he is (or was) laughing.

331. In a sentence with when we often omit the auxiliary verb: hence

- (2) ridens may be construed 'when laughing.'

332. If the participle stands alone, 'he,' 'they,' 'a man,' 'one,' 'men,' &c. must be supplied as the nom. to the verb.

- (3) ridenti, { when he is laughing.
 { when one is laughing.

Exercise 72.

amatus ,	(2) though he is loved.
	(3) though he was loved.
	(4) even though he should be loved.

^b Pres. subj. construe by pres. indic.

^c Construe mihi myself, and take no further notice of ipse.

339. We often omit the auxiliary verb after though. Hence we may sometimes construe

- (5) ridens, though laughing.
 (6) amatus, though loved.

Exercise 75.

340. Homines non statim pœnis afficiuntur, quotidie delinquentes. Multa transimus ante oculos posita. Oculus, se non videns, alia videt. Risus interdum ita repente erumpit, ut eum cupientes tenere nequeamus. Scripta tua jam diu exspectans^d, flagitare non audeo. Quis hoc non intelligit, Verrem absolutum (338, 4) tamen ex manibus populi Romani eripi nullo modo posse? Omnia magnâ voce dicens, simulabat tantum se furere. Ad cœnam vocatus, nondum venit.

Lesson 76. [Note, p. 104.]

341. Construe the following past participles by after, with a verb or participial substantive.

^d Use the perf. definite, 'have been expecting.'

^e Habere orationem, to deliver a speech.

^f Construe first by (341, 4); then by (341, 6).

DOLONIMUM diu contemplatus interrogavit, quâ patientiâ inopiam tulisset. Lauti^s cibum capiunt Germani.

Lesson 77.

343. Construe the following participles by verbs, and place 'and' before the verb that stands already in the Latin sentence.

The participle is generally to be construed by the same tense as the other verb.

(1) Ridens he laughs, exclamat and exclaims.

(2) Ridens he laughed, exclamavit and exclaimed.

But sometimes by a different tense.

(3) Correptum leporem, he has seized the hare, lacerat, and is mangling it. (He mangles the seized hare.)

Exercise 77.

344. Jussis divinis obediens virtuti studet. CRÆSUS, a Cyro victus, regno spoliatus est. Troja, equi lignei ope capta, incendio delēta est. Persæ mortuos cerâ circumlitos^h condunt. Grues, quum loca calidiora petentes maria transmittunt, trianguli efficiunt formam. Illud ipsumⁱ non accidisset, si quiescens legibus paruissem. Cum legionibus profectus^k celeriter adero. TITUS MANLIUS Gallum, in conspectu duorum exercituum cæsum, torque spoliavit. Comprehensum hominem Romam ducēbant (343, 3). Mulier ALCIBIADEM suâ veste contectum cremavit.

Lesson 78.

345. Non before a participle may be construed without: the participle being turned into the participial substantive.

non without, ridens laughing.

non without, { amatus being loved.
 amatus loving him.

^s Partic. from lavare, to wash.

ⁱ Construe ipse by even.

^h From circumlinere.

^k Proficisci.

Exercise 78.

346. Non petens regnum accepit. Romani Græcis non rogati ultro offērunt auxilium. Liberalitate utitur, se ipsum non spolians. Neminem in familiaritatem recipe *non cognitum*¹. Multi homines vituperant libros *non intellectos*¹. Beneficus est, qui non privatis commōdis permōtus, alios adjūvat.

347. OBS. Participles in the ablative absolute may be construed in the same way: the substantive will be the nom. to the verb; or the acc. after it^m.

Thus, Tarquinio regnante,	when Tarquinius was king.
te sedente,	as you were sitting.
captâ Tyro,	after Tyre was taken.
migraturis apibus,	when the bees are going to swarm.
fele comprehensâ,	if the cat is caught.
adempto pomo,	because his apple was taken away.
radice succisâ,	though the root was cut.
fascē sublato, redit,	he takes up the bundle AND returns.
te non salutato,	without saluting you.

348. Participles may often be construed by substantives of a kindred meaning: Thus,

For	We may say,
Ciconiæ redeuntes,	} The return of the storks.
The returning storks,
Januario addito,	} By the addition of January.
By January added ,
Leges violatæ,	} The violation of the laws.
The violated laws,
Vere appropinquante,	} On the approach of spring.
Spring approaching ,

^m It may sometimes be the accusative after the verb; because 'the bundle being taken by him' = 'the bundle was taken up by him;' which may be turned into 'he took up the bundle.'

Sing.	m. qui, f. quæ, n. quod,	cujus,	cui,	quem, quam, quod,	quo, quâ, quo.
Plur.	m. qui, f. quæ, n. quæ,	quorum, quarum, quorum,	quibus,	quos, quas, quæ,	quibus.

(e) The interrogative pronoun is,

- { (1) quis, quæ, quid (generally used as a substantive).
(2) qui, quæ, quod (——— an adjective).

The second is gone through exactly like the relative; and so is the first, with the exception, of course, of the neut. sing. quid.

(f) Quis is also 'any' (indefinite); the fem. sing. and neut. pl. are then sometimes qua.

(g) The compounds of qui, quis, follow the declension of those pronouns. In the following list the appended syllables in italics are added unaltered to the case of quis or qui.

Qui-dam,	a certain one.
Qui-vis, }	any you please.
Qui-libet, }
Quis-quam,	{ any ; any single one (when it is denied that there are any).
Aliquis,	{ any ; some (though not much or many : ali-quis, -qua, -quid or -quod. Neut. pl. -qua).
Quis-piam,	some, somebody.
Quis-que,	each. (Unusquisque, each one.)
Quisquis,	whoever (used without a substantive: neut. quicquid).
Qui-cunque,	whoever ; whatever (used with a subst.).
Ecquis ?	{ (does) any ? (fem. sing. generally, neut. plur. always ecqua . It expects the answer none .)
Uter,	{ which (of two) : uterque, each (utraque, utrumque ; G. -iusque).
Alius (a, ud),	{ another ; other. (When alius is used twice in a sentence, the first is construed ' some .)
Alter,	the other (of two) ; another ; one more.
Talis,	such ; antecedent to qualis (as).
Tantus,	so great ; antecedent to quantus (as).
Tot,	so many ; antecedent to quot (as).

☞ The compounds of quis have generally
 Neuter quid when used without } a substantive.
 Neuter quod when used with }

☞ The quid is generally written quic before q.
 Thus, quicquam (quidquam), 'any thing;' quicquid
 (quidquid), 'whatever.'

INDEX II.

LATIN.

To find the root of the present from the root of the perfect, we must remember how the root of the perfect was formed.

- a) Thus if āv, iv, u precede 'it' or any other termination of the tenses that have the root of the perfect, we get the root of the present by throwing them away. But sometimes u is to be retained.
- b) We must remember that x is made up of cs, or gs, or qus: and therefore the root of the present ends in c, g, or qu: sometimes, however, in v, h, or the vowel that precedes x.
[duxi, texi, coxi, from duco, tego, coquo, vixi, vexi, struxi, from vivo, veho, struo.]
- c) We must remember that ps may be made up of bs: so that the root of the present may end in b; not necessarily in p.
(scrips-it = scrib-sit: root scrib.)
- d) Sometimes an n or m must be inserted before the consonant preceding 'it,' to give the root of the present.
(vīc-it; root vīnc: rūp-it; root rump.)
- e) Sometimes ē must be turned into d, to get the root of the present.
(jēc-it; root jac.)
- f) Before s, a 'd' has often been thrown away.
(clausi = claud-si; root claud.)
- g) An s before s is a 'b,' 'd,' or 'r' in the present.
(jussi, cessi, gessi, from jub-eo, ced-o, ger-o.)

A DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE

OF THE

SCHOOL SERIES

OF THE LATE REV.

THOMAS KERCHEVER ARNOLD, M.A.

FORMERLY FELLOW OF TRINITY COLLEGE, CAMBRIDGE.

LATIN.

Henry's First Latin Book. Twenty-first Edition.
12mo. 3s.

The object of this Work is to enable the youngest boys to master the principal difficulties of the Latin language by easy steps. At first only the third person singular of a few tenses of the verb, and one case of a noun are used, the dependent words in the sentence being gradually introduced. Each lesson in Grammar is followed by a Vocabulary, an Exercise in English for translation into Latin, and one in Latin for translation into English, the work thus forming an easy progressive Grammar, Exercise, and Construing Book.

Great attention has lately been given to the improvement of what may be called its mechanical parts. The Vocabularies have been much extended, and greater uniformity of reference has been secured. Every thing has been done which the long experience of the Editor, or the practice of his friends in their own schools has shown to be desirable. At the same time, no pains have been spared to do this without altering in any way the character of the work, or making it inconvenient to use it side by side with copies of earlier editions.

Supplementary Exercises to Henry's First Latin Book.

By George Birkbeck Hill, B.A., Pembroke College Oxford, and one of the Head Masters of Bruce Castle School. 12mo. 2s.

In many Schools where "Henry's First Latin Book" is used, a want of additional Exercises has been felt. This it is now intended to supply by a little book merely supplementary, containing no new rules, and but few new words. The sentences are either modifications of those in the original work, or translations from some Latin author. By far the greater part of the phrases, in fact, have been taken from Cæsar, Cicero, Livy, and Sallust. The Exercises are numbered to correspond with those in Henry's First Latin Book, and the references given are all to the same Work.

A Second Latin Book, and Practical Grammar. Intended as a Sequel to Henry's First Latin Book. Tenth Edition. 12mo. 4s.

This Work is intended for pupils who are already able to conjugate with accuracy, and places before them longer sentences for translation, into which relative and other dependent clauses are gradually introduced. The Grammar includes a short treatise on Word-building, with the meaning of the prefixes and suffixes of verbs, substantives, and adjectives. Each Exercise is accompanied by a vocabulary, in which the principles of word-building given in the Grammar are practically applied.

Historiæ Antiquæ Epitome, from Cornelius Nepos, Justin, &c. With English Notes, Rules for Construing, Questions, Geographical Lists, &c. Eighth Edition. 4s.

This Work is an Epitome of Grecian, Persian, and Roman History, chronologically arranged. The chapters in Roman History (taken from Eutropius) are intended to be read first, being sufficiently easy for a pupil who has been through Henry's First Latin Book. Historical questions on the Different Periods with answers are added.

A First Classical Atlas, containing fifteen Maps, coloured in outline; intended as a Companion to the Historia Antiquæ Epitome. 8vo. 7s. 6d.

Eclogæ Ovidianæ, with English Notes; Part I. (from the Elegiac Poems.) Twelfth Edition. 12mo. 2s. 6d.

The notes explain the Historical and Mythological allusions, construction, &c., and point out any peculiarities in the structure of the verses. There is added a useful table of the declension of Greek Nouns, and rules for the formation of Patronymics. The great object of the notes is to teach a boy to construe not only correctly, but idiomatically, and by attending to the differences between the Latin and English modes of expressing the same thought, to gain an insight into the construction of both languages.

Eclogæ Ovidianæ; Part II. (from the Metamorphoses.) 5s.

In this Work each fable is presented as an independent story. The text omitted between the pieces is supplied by an English Introduction, which relates the chief points of the legend, supplies any necessary information about the characters introduced, and gives an explanation of the origin and purpose of the myth wherever it is practicable.

A Practical Introduction to Latin Prose Composition. Part I. Fifteenth Edition. 8vo. 6s. 6d.

The rules for the government and arrangement of words, and the Idioms of the Latin language, are given in short lessons, and illustrated by examples from the best authors: these are to be imitated in the exercises that follow, which are so arranged that the rules are impressed on the memory by very frequent repeti- tion. Much attention has been paid to Synonymes and to the use of the Subjunctive in Oblique Narration, and with Relatives and Relative Adverbs. Throughout the book one object is steadily kept in view, that of making the general construction of sentences of more importance than the mere government of cases.

A Practical Introduction to Latin Prose Composition, Part II.; containing the Doctrine of Latin Particles. Fourth Edition. 8vo. 8s.

This Work, which is on the same principles as Part I., but intended for more advanced pupils, explains more particularly the arrangement of words in a Latin sentence, and the nice distinctions which exist between the different adverbs and conjunctions: in illustration copious extracts are given from the best Prose authors: the sentences for translation are of considerable length: a Vocabulary, giving many English phrases idiomatically expressed in Latin, and an Antibarbarus guard against the mistakes usually made by beginners.

Cornelius Nepos, Part I.; with Critical Questions and Answers, and an imitative Exercise on each Chapter. Fifth Edition. 12mo. 4s.

The object of this Work is to acquaint the pupil to make himself acquainted with the style of the author he is reading, and to note the peculiarities and differences of construction of Latin authors. For this purpose, questions on the arrangement and construction of sentences, and on the usage and meanings of words are given for each chapter, with answers, explanations, and parallel passages, followed by an exercise, in which the different idioms are introduced, so that they may be impressed upon the memory, and the pupil may learn to write Latin in the style of Nepos.

The Æneid of Virgil, with English Notes. 12mo. 6s.

Eclogæ Horatianæ, Pars I.; Carmina prope Omnia Continens. Addita est Familiaris Interpretatio ex Adnotationibus Mitscherlichii, Doeringii, Orellii, aliorum excerpta. Second Edition. 12mo. 5s.

The Works of Horace, followed by English Introductions and Notes, adapted for School use. 12mo. 7s.

A First Verse Book, Part I.; intended as an easy Introduction to the Latin Hexameter and Pentameter. Ninth Edition. 12mo. 2s. Part II.; containing additional Exercises. Third Edition. 1s.

This is both a Verse Book and also a short but complete Prosody. Each Exercise is preceded by a lesson containing rules and verses to be imitated. The great advantage of the book is that the verses are not nonsense, but have been carefully selected, so that they can be construed by the pupil, who thus learns from the first to avoid mixing the words of different sentences.

A Practical Introduction to Latin Verse Composition.

Fourth and cheaper Edition, considerably revised. 12mo.
3s. 6d.

The pupil is here supposed to be capable of composing verses easily when the "full sense" is given. He is now to be assisted in proceeding to original composition in Elegiacs and Hexameters, and in mastering the Alcaic and Sapphic stanzas: explanations and a few exercises are also given on the other Horatian metres. A short Poetical Phraseology has been added.

In the present Edition the whole work has been corrected, the translations being carefully compared with the originals. The Alcaics and Sapphics have been arranged in stanzas, and each kind of verse placed in a separate chapter, the old numbers of the Exercises being preserved for convenience in use. Other improvements it is hoped will add to its value.

Gradus ad Parnassum Novus Anticlepticus; founded on Quicherat's Thesaurus Poeticus Linguae Latinae. 8vo. 10s. 6d. half-bound.

The Gradus Novus will be found a sufficient dictionary for the best Latin Poets: words that are not actually synonymous, but nearly so, are marked in such a way as to caution the pupil to look out their meaning: the epithets are carefully selected, with a view to create a judicious use of them: and the phrases are so introduced that, whilst they add to the pupil's stock of poetical ideas, he cannot borrow ready-made verses.

. A prospectus, with specimen page, may be had on application.

Cicero, with English Notes from the best and most recent sources.

Part I.—Selected Orations. Third Edition, carefully revised. 12mo. 4s.

Part II.—Selected Epistles. 5s.

Part III.—The Tusculan Disputations. Second Edition. 5s. 6d.

Part IV.—De Finibus Malorum et Bonorum. (On the Supreme Good.) 5s. 6d.

Part V.—Cato Major, sive De Senectute Dialogus. 2s. 6d.

The object of this Series is to give the pupil sufficient help, but not too much: the notes, which are mostly taken from the best German editions, render assistance in all the really difficult passages, and give such explanations of ancient laws and customs as may enable the pupil to understand the allusions of the author.

Tacitus, Part I. The first Six Books of the Annals of Tacitus, ab Excessu Divi Augusti. With English Notes, translated (with additions) from the German of Dr. Karl Nipperdey, by the Rev. Henry Browne, M.A. 12mo. 6s. Part II. (Books XI.—XVI.) 5s.

Sallust.—The History of the Jugurthine War, explained by Rudolf Jacobs. The Notes translated (and enlarged) by the Rev. Henry Browne, M.A. 12mo. 3s. 6d.

Longer Latin Exercises, Part I. Third Edition. 8vo. 4s.

The object of this Work is to supply boys with an easy collection of short passages as an exercise book after they have gone, once at least, through Part I. of the Practical Introduction. The exercises are preceded by a treatise on the order of words; and assistance is rendered by foot-notes, &c.

Longer Latin Exercises, Part II.; containing a Selection of Passages of greater length, in genuine idiomatic English, for Translation into Latin. 8vo. 4s.

Materials for Translation into Latin: selected and arranged by Augustus Grotefend. Translated from the German by the Rev. H. H. Arnold, B.A., with Notes and Excursuses. Third Edition. 8vo. 7s. 6d.

In this Work historical extracts and dialogues have been selected for translation, accompanied by foot-notes on the construction and words to be used. At the end are some valuable Excursuses on the Latin Adverbs, Conjunctions, Particles, &c., and on the meaning of words and distinction of Synonymes.

A Copious and Critical English-Latin Lexicon, by the Rev. T. K. Arnold and the Rev. J. E. Riddle. New Edition. 8vo. 17. 1s.

The object of this Work is to give the student an English-Latin Lexicon of such strict accuracy that he can consult it with a reasonable hope of finding what he wants, and with the certainty of being able to trust what he finds. An account is given of the use of the words set down, of their synonymical distinctions, and of the niceties connected with their employment by Classical Writers, together with many useful remarks and cautions.

An Abridgment of the above Work, for the use of Schools. By the Rev. J. C. Ebdon, late Fellow and Tutor of Trinity Hall, Cambridge. Post 8vo. 7s. 6d.

GREEK.

The First Greek Book; on the Plan of "Henry's First Latin Book." Fifth Edition. 12mo. 5s.

This is at once an easy Grammar, Construing, and Exercise Book: each lesson is followed by a Vocabulary and Exercises for translation into English and Greek; the rules for accentuation are gradually introduced into the lessons, so that the pupil is accustomed from the very beginning to write Greek words with their proper accents. About fifty pages of paradigms of declensions and conjugations (regular and irregular) are given, portions of which are to be learnt with each lesson. Syntactical rules and differences of idiom give what further assistance is required.

The Second Greek Book (on the same Plan) ; containing an Elementary Treatise on the Greek Particles and the Formation of Greek Derivatives. Second Edition. 12mo. 5s. 6d.

The Third Greek Book, containing Selections from Xenophon's Cyropædia, with English Notes, and a Vocabulary. 12mo. 3s. 6d.

The Fourth Greek Book, containing Xenophon's Anabasis, Books IV. to VII., with English Notes. 12mo. 4s.

A Practical Introduction to Greek Accidence. With Easy Exercises and Vocabulary. Eighth Edition. 8vo. 5s. 6d.

In each lesson of this book a portion of the Accidence is learnt and impressed upon the memory by an exercise containing numerous examples on the declensions, conjugations, and simple government of words, with which the pupil becomes familiar by constant repetition. In the second part, exercises are given on the verbs in μ, the contracted and irregular verbs, and on the principles of word-building; this part is preceded by a short treatise on accentuation, and the pupil is required to accentuate his Greek. The questions on the Accidence and Accentuation will be found very useful to the tutor.

A Practical Introduction to Greek Prose Composition. Tenth Edition. 8vo. 5s. 6d.

The Syntax is broken up into short lessons, each followed by a Vocabulary and Exercise, and preceded by Model Sentences in Greek, containing examples of the rules, whilst each exercise contains many examples of the back rules, so that by imitation and very frequent repetition they may be thoroughly impressed upon the mind. The pupil thus gradually learns the niceties of the language, whilst one object is steadily kept in view, that of making the general construction of sentences of more importance than the mere government of cases.

A Greek Grammar ; intended as a sufficient Grammar of Reference for Schools and Colleges. Second Edition. 8vo, half-bound. 10s. 6d.

Professor Madvig's Syntax of the Greek Language, especially of the Attic Dialect; translated by the Rev. Henry Browne, M.A. Together with an Appendix on the Greek Particles, by the Translator. Square 8vo. 8s. 6d.

In this Manual (of study and reference), the Greek language in its most highly cultivated form, the Greek of the Athenian poets and historians, philosophers and orators, is exhibited in clear, succinct rules, copiously illustrated by apposite examples.

An Elementary Greek Grammar. 12mo. 5s.; or, with Dialects, 6s.

Homer for Beginners.—The First Three Books of the Iliad, with English Notes; forming a sufficient Commentary for Young Students. Third Edition. 12mo. 3s. 6d.

The object of this Work is to render such assistance as will be required by the beginner. With this view the notes given in the "Critical Introduction to Homer" are simplified, and many explanations added, which would not be required by the more advanced student. Lists of words with the Digamma, of peculiar Homeric substantives and adjectives, and of Homeric adverbs and adverbial phrases, with explanations and derivations, are added.

The Iliad of Homer Complete, with English Notes and Grammatical References. Third Edition. In one thick volume, 12mo, half-bound. 12s.

The argument of each book is broken into short parts, which are inserted in the text before each paragraph, in order to give the student an idea of what follows. The notes to the first four books are abridged from Mr. Arnold's other editions of Homer, the rest are from Dübner. Lists of the Homeric substantives with peculiarities of form, of the adjectives with two forms, of the Homeric adverbs and adverbial phrases, and explanations of Homeric words by Buttmann, are given in the form of appendices.

Homer.—The Iliad, Books I. to IV.; with a Critical Introduction, and copious English Notes. Second Edition. 12mo. 7s. 6d.

The object of this Work is to assist the more advanced student to acquire a critical knowledge of Homer. The text of the first four books is followed by an abridgment of Thiersch's Treatise on the Language of Homer, explaining the Prosody and Versification, the use of the Augment, and peculiarities in the Homeric substantives, adjectives, and verbs. Copious critical notes are added, mostly taken from Nägelsboch, Freytag, and Crusius.

Homer.—A Complete Greek and English Lexicon for the Poems of Homer and the Homeridæ. Translated from the German of Crusius, by Professor Smith. Third Edition. 9s.

The object of this Work is to present in a moderate compass all that is required by the student for understanding Homer and the Homeridæ. It not only contains an alphabetical series of words, with their meanings and derivations, but particularly notices peculiarities of expression, and those passages which in point of construction or the signification of words are difficult to be understood, or admit of different interpretations: explanations are also given, wherever necessary, from Mythology, Geography, Antiquities, &c.

. A prospectus and specimen of this Lexicon may be had.

Xenophon's Anabasis, explained by Dr. F. K. Hertlein. In Two Parts; Part II. forming the "Fourth Greek Book." Translated from the German, with additional Notes and Grammatical References, by the Rev. Henry Browne, M.A. 12mo. 6s. 6d.

Herodotus.—Eclogæ Herodotææ, Part I.; from the Text of Schweighæuser. With English Notes. 12mo. 3s. 6d.

Thucydides, with copious English Notes, especially from Poppo and Krüger, and Grammatical References. Book the First. 12mo. 5s. 6d. Book the Second. 4s. 6d.

Æschines.—Speech against Ctesiphon. 12mo. 4s.

The object of this Book is to give a plain exposition of the sentiments of the Author, based on philological principles, and illustrated by the requisite historical and archæological information. Sufficient help is given to encourage the student's own efforts, and to furnish the means of success to the diligent and persevering.

Demosthenes, with English Notes from the best and most recent sources, Sauppe, Doberenz, Jacobs, Dissen, Westermann, &c.

The Olynthiac Orations. Third Edition. 12mo. 3s.

The Oration on the Crown. Second Edition. 12mo. 4s. 6d.

The Philippic Orations. Third Edition. 12mo. 4s.

In this Edition the introduction to each Oration supplies enough of the history of the period, and the position of political parties, for understanding its object. The notes are concise, and render all the assistance required for understanding the style and constructions peculiar to the Author; the Attic law-terms, customs and manners, words of peculiar meaning, historical and geographical allusions are fully explained. A chronological table is added of the events which occurred during the life of Demosthenes.

Sophocles, with English Notes, from Schneidewin. By the Ven. Archdeacon Paul, and the Rev. Henry Browne, M.A.

The Ajax. 3s.—The Philoctetes. 3s.—The Œdipus Tyrannus. 4s.—The Œdipus Coloneus. 4s.—The Antigone. 4s.

This Edition is especially adapted for schools, though it is hoped that even the finished scholar may glean from it some useful information. The notes are concise, on the principle of not giving too much help, yet all real difficulties of construction or expression are carefully explained, as well as any allusions to History and Mythology.

The Introduction gives a complete history of the principal actors, and explains the different scenes and plot of each play, whilst its object and the date of its production are thoroughly discussed: the character of the actors is also compared with that given by other poets.

Euripides, with English Notes, from Hartung, Dübner, Witzschel, Schöne, &c.

The Hecuba.—The Hippolytus.—The Bacchæ.—The Medea.—The Iphigenia in Tauris. 3s. each.

The object of this Edition is to furnish sufficient help to young scholars reading Euripides for the first time, without going too deeply into nice points of criticism; in any difficulties of construction, unusual meanings of words, allusions to History, Mythology,

Geography, &c., assistance is given in the notes. An introduction is prefixed to each play, explaining the plot, characters, scenes, &c., and giving much information on points of classical interest in connexion with the play.

Aristophanes.—Eclogæ Aristophanicæ, with English Notes, by Professor Felton. Part I. (The Clouds.) 12mo. 3s. 6d. Part II. (The Birds.) 3s. 6d.

 In this Edition the objectionable passages are omitted.

A Copious Phraseological English-Greek Lexicon, founded on a Work prepared by J. W. Frädersdorff, Ph. Dr. of the Taylor-Institution, Oxford. Revised, Enlarged, and Improved by Henry Browne, M.A., Vicar of Pevensey, and Prebendary of Chichester. Fourth Edition, corrected, with the Appendix incorporated. 8vo. 21s.

In this Lexicon it has been endeavoured to give the equivalent Greek for all English words, with their various meanings. The grammatical construction is duly indicated, poetry discriminated from prose, synonyms distinguished, and the usage and idioms of both languages exemplified by copious phrases from named authors. It claims to be a Lexicon in the proper sense of the word, such that a foreigner being a good Greek scholar, could acquire from it a knowledge of English almost as complete (except for what is essentially modern) as would be furnished by a good English dictionary in his own language; in which, therefore, the English student may expect to find the right words and the suitable mode of expression for the thought which he wishes to render into Greek.

The Second Hebrew Book, containing the Book of Genesis; together with a Hebrew Syntax, and a Vocabulary and Grammatical Commentary. 9s.

GERMAN.

The First German Book; on the Plan of "Henry's First Latin Book." By the Rev. T. K. Arnold and Dr. Frädersdorff. Sixth Edition. 12mo. 5s. 6d. Key, 2s. 6d.

This Work (on the same plan as Henry's First Latin Book) is at once a Grammar, Exercise, and Construing Book: the pupil is led by easy steps to gain a fair knowledge of the idioms of the language, and acquires an extensive Vocabulary. It is intended especially for Classical Schools.

A Reading Companion to the First German Book; containing Extracts from the best Authors, with a Vocabulary and Notes. 12mo. Second Edition. 4s.

This Book contains a selection of Progressive Extracts from German Prose and Verse Authors: the pupil is assisted by foot-notes: much grammatical information and help towards idiomatic translation is given under the head of "Miscellaneous Remarks." A Dictionary is not required, the Index being quite sufficient.

The Second German Book; a Syntax, and Etymological Vocabulary, with copious Reading-Lessons and Exercises. Edited by Dr. Frädersdorff. 6s. 6d. Key, 1s.

FRENCH.

The First French Book; on the Plan of "Henry's First Latin Book." Sixth Edition. 12mo. 5s. 6d. Key, 2s. 6d.

ENGLISH.

Henry's English Grammar; a Manual for Beginners. 12mo. 3s. 6d.

This Work is a manual of grammatical instruction for beginners. The lessons and exercises are formed on a method calculated to lead the pupil by sure and easy steps to a correct and intelligent use of his mother-tongue: at the same time the habit is formed of reflecting on the facts and analyzing the construction of his own language, which will greatly facilitate the acquisition of other languages, either ancient or modern.

Spelling turned Etymology. Third Edition. 12mo.
2s. 6d. The Pupil's Book. 1s. 3d.

The object of this Work is to enable a teacher of very moderate ability to train his pupils to a considerable knowledge of words; and by its use boys of no great intellectual powers may acquire an extensive Vocabulary, and be taught to use it accurately because they understand it thoroughly.

Latin viâ English; being the Second Part of the above Work. Fourth Edition. 12mo. 4s. 6d.

An English Grammar for Classical Schools; being a Practical Introduction to "English Prose Composition." Ninth Edition. 12mo. 4s. 6d.

The object of this Work is to ground boys so thoroughly in the English Verb, especially in the Participles, Auxiliaries, and Participial Substantive, that they may not fall into the usual errors in translation. In the exercises the pupil learns not merely to correct errors, but to change one kind of construction into another equivalent one, which will give him a mastery over the idioms and laws of construction of his own language, and aid him in the acquisition of others.

Handbooks for the Classical Student, with Questions.

Ancient History and Geography. From the German of Pütz. Translated by the Ven. Archdeacon Paul. Second Edition. 6s. 6d.

Mediæval History and Geography. By the Same. 4s. 6d.

Modern History and Geography. By the Same. 5s. 6d.

In this Series, by the use of which the student will gain an accurate knowledge of the outlines of Universal History, Geography and Chronology take their proper places as the Handmaids of History, and inseparably connected with it. The history of each country is preceded by a Geographical view of it, arranged (1) physically, (2) politically. The Ancient History extends from the earliest period of which we have any notice, to the dissolution of the Western Empire, A.D. 476: the Mediæval History, to the discovery of America, A.D. 1492: the Modern History to the present day. A Chronological table and complete set of Historical and Geographical questions are added to each volume.

The Athenian Stage, from the German of Witzschel. Translated by the Ven. Archdeacon Paul. 4s.

Grecian Antiquities. From the Swedish of Bojesen. Translated from Dr. Hoffa's German version by the Ven. Archdeacon Paul. Second Edition. 3s. 6d.

Roman Antiquities. By the Same. Second Edition.
3s. 6d.

The object of these Works is, by a simple and systematic arrangement, to present to the reader a clear representation of Grecian and Roman life. The recent investigations of jurists and philologists have been extensively but carefully used, and the book is so arranged that the parts, instead of being in the form of a Dictionary, follow in the order in which they ought to be studied, and in which they can be most readily got up and retained. A complete set of questions is added to each.

Hebrew Antiquities. By the Rev. Henry Browne,
M.A. 4s.

This Work describes the manners and customs of the ancient Hebrews which were common to them with other nations, and the rites and ordinances which distinguished them as the chosen people Israel. It may be used as a Sunday lesson book in Schools and Families.

Latin Synonymes. From the German of Döderlein.
Third Edition. 4s.

Greek Synonymes. From the French of Pillon. 6s. 6d.

This Work comprehends all words in the Greek language, whether poetical or not, that have a common or closely relative meaning, not excluding even the ἄπαξ λεγόμενα. The differences in meaning are carefully pointed out, and passages quoted in illustration, so that the student may acquire an intimate knowledge of the language, and learn to write with force and elegance.
